

SERVICE-LEARNING IMPACT REPORT

FALL 2025

Report by Service-Learning Faculty Fellows:

Rhonda K. Lewis, Ph.D., MPH
Fairmount College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Chelsea Redger-Marquardt, Ed.D.
Cohen Honors College | College of Applied Studies

HIGHLIGHTS

- Annual Conference Presentation
 - Redger-Marquardt, C. & Lewis R.K., Service-Learning and Partnership Building. National Collegiate Honors Council Annual Conference. November 6-9, 2025. San Diego, CA.

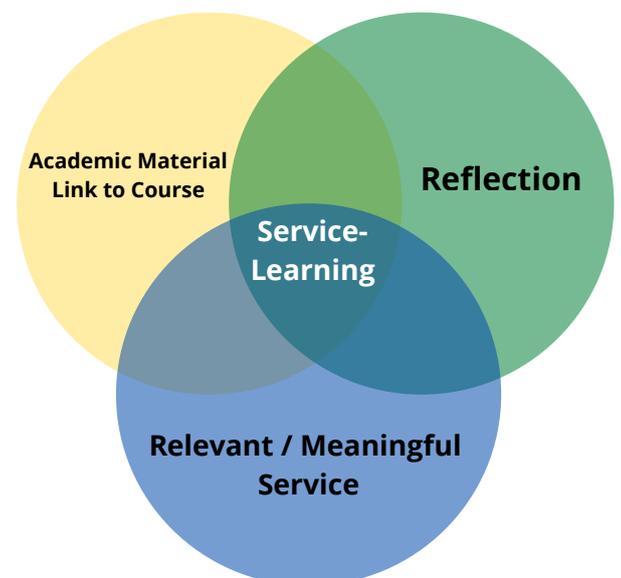

- Continue to support Faculty and Student online/on-demand training modules completed with electronic marketing campaign.
- Continue to monitor, provide feedback, and approve CIM forms for the Service-Learning Course Attribute.

FUTURE DIRECTIONS

Directions for Spring 2026 and beyond.

- Host annual Service-Learning Showcase with all judging occurring onsite, in-person.
 - Continue to support student awards in each of the four categories including:
 - Overall Service-Learning
 - Innovation and Creativity in Problem Solving
 - Collaboration and Leadership in Service-Learning
 - Community Impact
 - Continue to award faculty mentor awards aligned with each of the student awards.
- Continue to contribute to Student Success and Persistence goals as academic Service-Learning is a High Impact Practice. (AAC&U)
- Continue to strengthen campus partnership with the FARE Office to continue to support faculty development.
- Explore addition of annual award for service-learning/ community engaged scholars as part of the annual faculty awards program with Academic Affairs.

Academic Service-Learning

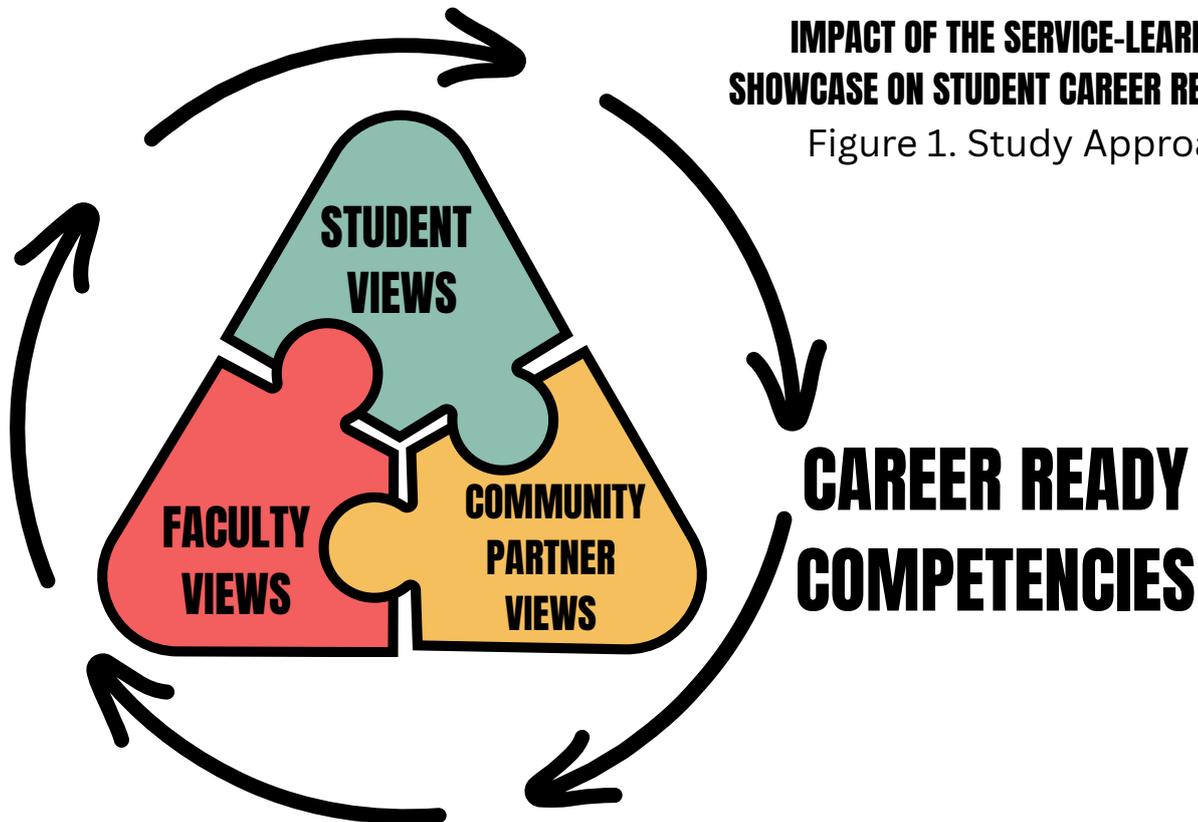

HIGHLIGHTING RESEARCH

SERVICE-LEARNING SHOWCASE

+ NACE COMPETENCIES & FORBES EMPLOYER SKILLS

Currently conducting a multi-population (students, faculty, and community partners), multi-year mixed methods research study focused on the impact of the service-learning showcase on students' career readiness using the NACE Competencies and Forbes Employer Skills.

IMPACT OF THE SERVICE-LEARNING SHOWCASE ON STUDENT CAREER READINESS

Figure 1. Study Approach

CAREER READY COMPETENCIES

SERVICE-LEARNING 2026

SHOWCASE

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 2026

11AM-12:30PM

RSC BEGGS BALLROOM

Save the Date

