ANTH750, 4 credit hours
Learn how to properly conduct archaeological field work at the site of Etzanoa in Arkansas City, Kansas this summer! Etzanoa may be the second-largest archaeological site in North America, with eyewitness accounts from 1601 AD. Students will earn 4 credit hours in an intensive and immersive learning experience, exploring not only excavation techniques but also touring the historical sites associated with the site! Students will stay comfortably at Cowley Community College during the week. Transportation to/from site, accommodation, meals, and equipment are included in the tuition and fees. The field school is limited to 15 students, so students will get a lot of experience and individualized instruction. Tuition is the same as the regular semester, making this one of the most affordable credited field schools in the nation!
