Assistantships and Fellowships are awarded primarily on the basis of a student's academic record, potential as a degree candidate, and demonstrated leadership, teaching, or research activities. Applicants must be formally admitted to a graduate degree program at Wichita State University. Students admitted on probation or placed on academic probation following admission are not eligible for such awards.

Assistantships provide cash stipends and may include tuition assessment at resident rates for graduate level course work. Students awarded a Graduate Teaching Assistantship may qualify for up to 100 percent waiver of their graduate tuition.

The actual dollar amount of an assistantship varies according to the type and length of the appointment, the number of hours worked each week, and the funding base within each program area. At Wichita State University, assistantships for twenty hours of work per week, for a semester appointment range from $2900 - $3956.

Fellowship selections are made on a competitive basis without regard to race, creed, gender, or national origin. The individual program area determines the award amounts.
