OUTSTANDING MEMBER

My name is Breanna Bobbit and I graduated in May with my Bachelors in Health Service Management and Community Development and a Minor in Health Science. I am a lateral entry student currently taking prerequisites for the Speech Language Pathology Master's program. I am hoping to get accepted into the program for fall 2019, so I can be one step closer to my dream profession. Being in the medical field is something that I hold very close to my heart because I myself know what it is like to have a disability. I love learning how the body works and how many people suffer from various anomalies, but yet there are so many different therapies to help with each individual patient. This program captivates me because often times you may have to think outside of the box due to people having different learning abilities. I myself have learned throughout the years what it means to value empathy, patience, and compassion. That being said, I plan to keep those values very evident throughout my career as a Speech Language Pathologist.

3rd Annual Souper Bowl

For the third year in a row, the College of Health Professions hosted their annual Souper Bowl event. This event was on November 7th.
