OUTSTANDING MEMBER

My name is Katie Carley and I am currently a CSD major with the intention to go to graduate school for speech-language pathology. I chose SLP because I am passionate about the field and find all areas of the career fascinating. In every one of my classes I can't help myself from diving into the information that we are learning even further than what is expected from professors because it captivates my interest. I am constantly thinking about the clients I observe in the clinic and am brainstorming ideas as to how I can help my future clients! I believe that I can greatly contribute to the field, especially this year as I am working on some undergraduate research. I cannot wait to be a future SLP and dive into a career so vast and complex!
